KUALA LUMPUR: Both Malaysia and Singapore's digital vaccination certificates are secured by blockchain technology and come with a traceability feature that tells the exact batch of the vaccine vials used for inoculation, says Khairy Jamaluddin.

"The interoperability between the digital certification systems used in both countries will be crucial, especially when taking into account standards set by the World Health Organisation, International Air Transport Association, as well as other countries, " said the Science, Technology and Innovation Minister.

(Blockchain is a system of recording information in a way that makes it difficult or impossible to change, hack, or cheat the system.)

Khairy, also the coordinating minister for the National Covid-19 Immunisation Programme, posted this on his Facebook page on matters discussed during his meeting with visiting Singapore Foreign Minister Dr Vivian Balakrishnan in Putrajaya on Tuesday.
