Outrage in Parliament after Agong says yet to consent to revocation of Emergency

“Of course, a whopping RM5.8 billion allocation will raise questions on how the money was and will be spent,” he said when giving a statement on the NIP at the special meeting of the Dewan Rakyat here.

Khairy said the NIP has attended PAC proceedings twice, with the first on Jan 5 and the second, last Monday.

“During the proceedings, all documents on vaccine procurement and details of NIP expenditure have been presented to the PAC.

“Apart from the PAC, the Ministry of Science, Technology and Innovation, represented by its deputy secretary-general, had also given its statement at the Parliament’s Special Select Committee on Health, Science and Innovation proceedings,” he said.

In ensuring transparency and openness of the NIP, a briefing by invitation had also been held for all MPs on March 22 in Putrajaya, he added. —
