PUTRAJAYA: Malaysia achieved its highest daily Covid-19 vaccination rate so far with 313,761 doses administered on Monday, signalling that the country's inoculation initiative is on the right track.

"Looking at this development, the government is optimistic that efforts being planned are on the right track," said Prime Minister Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin in a video posted on his Facebook page yesterday. The number of doses administered on Monday saw a significant increase from the previous day, when a total of 206,015 doses were administered.
