(Kuala Lumpur, 29th) Alibaba Cloud Malaysia Country Manager Huang Kun said that, as a global ecosystem builder, Alibaba Cloud hopes to cultivate more outstanding local talents through the Maker Competition, and encourage more Malaysian start-ups to expand their development territory.

Alibaba Cloud also hopes to connect local start-ups with business leaders and venture capitalists through the competition, he said .

"As a leading cloud service provider, Alibaba Cloud has set up 28 data centers around the world to provide the latest and most advanced cloud technology services in various fields."

"Malaysia has been a major market for Alibaba Cloud since the establishment of the first data center in 2017, and as of this year, Alibaba Cloud has taken root in Malaysia for nearly five years."

Huang Kun pointed out this in his speech today at the opening ceremony of the 2022 Alibaba Gods Battle Global Maker Competition.

Attendees included Chong Yilan, Commercial Director of Alibaba Cloud Malaysia Marketing Department and Online Department, Dato Lim Boon Siong, Managing Director of Handsprofit, Ouyang Chongguang, General Manager of Cainiao Southeast Asia, Chen Jiayi, Chief Executive Officer of SabahNet, Tu Hongming, Chairman of the Organizing Committee, and Lim Aiming, Vice Chairman .

Huang Kun also said that the competition is known as the "Olympics" of technology venture capital in the world, covering dozens of countries and nearly 100 cities, and the competition held in Malaysia over the years has benefited more than 200 participants.

He added that this year's competition will also focus on 5 core technology pillars, including digital technology, food technology, agricultural technology, blockchain and Industrial Revolution 4.0.

"We hope the competition will create a vibrant entrepreneurial environment that will help entrepreneurs hone their business ideas, gain valuable brand awareness on the international stage, and nurture the next generation of entrepreneurs."
